The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL rpc.ashmus.ox.ac.uk. The page is titled "Roman Provincial Coinage Online" and has a navigation menu with "Home", "Coin Database", "Introduction", "Imperial Family", and "Maps". The main content area is titled "Welcome" and contains the following text:

The aim of the Roman Provincial Coinage series is to produce a standard typology of the provincial coinage of the Roman Empire from its beginning in 44 BC to its end in AD 296/7. The current Roman Provincial Coinage Online project is confined to the Antonine period (AD 138–192), but it is intended that it will form a model for putting other periods online in the future.

The database is based on the ten most important and accessible collections in the world, and on all published material. It comprises one of the largest collections of images and related inscriptions from the ancient world which is searchable by iconography, place, and time.

The database contains information on 13,729 coin types, based on 47,536 specimens (9,061 of which have images).

On the right side of the page, there is a large image of a coin. Below it, the caption reads: "Reverse of coin type (temp. N°) 30, minted in Abydus, and depicting Hero & Leander".

At the bottom of the page, there is a logo for "Roman Provincial Coinage Online is supported by:" and a "FORTY-ANNUAL" logo.

The project is based in the Heberden Coin Room of the Ashmolean Museum, which is part of the University of Oxford
